

BACCN Twitter Chat by @karin_gerber on behalf of @BACCNUK

I cannot believe that nearly a year has gone by since we launched BACCN Twitter Chat in Glasgow during the 31nd Annual BACCN Conference. Since then we've held 10 very successful Twitter Chats discussing a myriad of topics that's important to us as Critical Care practitioners. We've not just covered various topics but also connected to many other inter professional practitioners from all over the world which is culminating in our next Twitter Chat on the 1st of September where we'll be discussing our expectations of the upcoming "Building Interprofessional Teams to Enhance Safer Critical Care" Conference and in particular what questions you would like to pose to our expert panel during our closing question time debate where we'll be discussing the: "Sustainability in Excellence: The Future of Critical Care" <http://www.baccnconference.org.uk/index.php/programme/keynotes-2017-2/>

So, join me on the 1st of September between 7-8pm as we get ready to make our way to London for #BACCNConf2017.